Parking sign with rubber stand

The right parking sign can help to create a professional impression as part of a well-conceived environment. Parking signs also help people to park in the right place in relation to reception areas, staff entrances etc.

DanSign supplies customised solutions that match the building installations and other signage. Alternatively, DanSign can provide a standardised concept where signs are mounted on stands with flexible rubber joints so they can withstand minor collisions with vehicles. When a vehicle impacts with the sign, it bends, returning to its original position once the vehicle drives off. DanSign has acted as a professional consultant to such organisations as DR-Byen – the head office of the Danish broadcasting company - Copenhagen Airport, and the Danish Royal Family in connection with the design of their parking signage.
