DanSign's team of graphic artists are experts at producing super graphics/digital prints which solve a number of practical problems without compromising aesthetic quality.

Among our customers is Copenhagen Zoo, which needs a large number of signs to give visitors specific information about the various animals. As the number of prints required is low, costs can be held down with digital printing in comparison with more traditional printing methods.

An additional benefit of digital printing is that it can be performed on a broad spectrum of materials. The only limit is your imagination, and DanSign can produce banners, foil stickers, posters, etc.
